Low Intensity Support Service

The Low Intensity Support Service Program, known as LISS, is a statewide program for individuals with a developmental disability. Preventative in nature the LISS program works to assist individuals with developmental disabilities improve their quality of life, remain in their own homes, increase or maintain independence and participate in their communities. The LISS objectives are met by utilizing all available resources to satisfy the individual needs and after all resources have been exhausted qualifying eligible individuals for services and supports through the LISS program. LISS is the payor of the last resort. The Maryland Community Connection LISS program can be accessed for individuals that meet LISS eligibility requirements and live in Calvert, Charles, Montgomery, Prince George's, or St. Mary's Counties. MCC will be conducting information sessions on how to access this service, what services and supports are covered by LISS, and what other county and state resources are available for the developmentally disabled community.
